Located in Taichung, City of Hand Tools- Dual Strength in R&D and Customization

The company has stood in Taichung City (Taiwan) for over 40 years. It has strong R&D capabilities and has developed adjustable bits for woodworking and angle drivers. It will continue to develop new products into the future. It follows DIN and ISO standards, sticks to quality first, manages material quality, and does a great job in monitoring each manufacturing process as well as the final products. Its plant has many types of inspection equipment, including Rockwell hardness testers, torque testers and projectors to ensure each product meets the standards before shipping, creating products of higher quality and stability that are superior than the ones you can find on the market.

It is also good at providing customized products. Depending on clients' needs, the company offers tailor-made products that are price-competitive within the shortest time possible.

Expanding Sales Targeted at Unleashed Market Demand

Since last year, the world market has been gradually re-opening and hand tool demand has been surging accordingly. Many overseas buyers have turned to Novumtec Eurasian Associated Co. A company must have a global perspective. Targeting one specific region or field will not suffice to survive the commercial environment and compete with rivals. Therefore, the company actively embraces any opportunity for business interaction, and it will continue to satisfy global clients' demand by offering steady quality and trust. □
