TFTA 專題講座

Every year Taiwan Fastener Trading Association (TFTA) continues to give workshops, seminars, socials, to name a few, in order to help its members learn more about the industry, enhance their expertise, and integrate theories with practices. Every past event held by TFTA was always attended by many members, who came to share technology, experience, and know-how with each other as well as exchange views that could be used to revitalize business opportunities. Such successful events also play important roles in facilitating the integration of the fastener industry and act as the primary platforms to share resources with the industry.

Following the success of previous events, the workshop for the 2nd quarter of 2016 took place on June 17 at National Tainan Living Art Center. With so many positive feedbacks from the previous participants, more attendees registered for their participation this time, making all seats fully occupied. Speakers of this workshop were Mr. Kern Hsiung Huang (General Manager of Feng Yi Steel), who explained common customers' complaints on wires and poor fastener processing and his analysis, and Mr. Zheng Zhe Wu (Assistant Manager of Chite Enterprises), who lectured on standards for fastener materials and testing methods. Both speakers did their best to share their years of experience with the attendees and the speeches were also very educational to more than 100 members in attendance coming to seek experts' suggestions.

TFTA Secretary Mr. Huang said, "A series of free workshops and seminars held by TFTA are mainly for providing related companies with a platform to communicate and interact with each other and for offering solutions to common problems observed in Taiwanese fastener industry to increase the capacity of the entire industry by inviting industry leaders, professional consultants, senior engineers and researchers to share their experience. This event has been held for 4 consecutive years and always attracts big crowds. Attendees all report good results in business running and technical improvement after participating in any of the previous events. In the future, TFTA will continue to give similar events, hoping to make some contribution to enhancing the competitiveness of Taiwanese fastener industry. We also expect that our members can cooperate with each other and eventually create another milestone for Taiwan!"
